Why the Insane Asylum is a Disgrace.

We are progressing. It is not very long since no Democratic newspaper was willing to admit that anything was wrong in the Insane Asylum. A few did go so far as to say there ought to be an investigation, but the investigation, it was expected, would show that the Republican party was merely envious of the conspicuous success of the majority in its discharge of duties so delicate.

As indicating a better state of mind on the Democratic side the INTELLIGENCER recently quoted from its good Democratic friend, the Morgantown New Dominion, some remarks in which it was admitted that matters and things at the Asylum were not altogether lovely. It is fair to say that our esteemed contemporary has not yet endorsed the INTELLIGENCER's method of bringing the Asylum to the public attention—"wholesale and somewhat reckless accusations," as it is pleased to say. This much, however, the New Dominion says on its own responsibility:

The New Dominion is willing to concede, and has so charged, that the organization of the Asylum for the Insane is a disgrace; that it is impossible, under the existing organization, to carry out the main purpose of such an institution; that it is impossible, with the small force of physicians in charge, to give even intelligent supervision, much less curative treatment, to the unfortunates under its roof; that it is impossible that there should not be grave and imminent perils of curative means and agencies; that it is impossible that Dr. Bland, or any other man, should be able to administer the medical and business affairs of a great institution like that, which involves the expenditure of from seventy-five to one hundred thousand dollars per annum, and at the same time administer medical treatment and give professional care and supervision to five or six hundred patients; that to attempt to conduct this institution on such a plan is simply to make it what we have termed it, "a great jail," and as such it is a discredit to the State and a reproach upon our civilization.

We admit also, that it is a reproach upon the Democratic party. As the party is responsible for the administration of the State government it is responsible for the defective organization of the Asylum, even if it did not organize it. We have no disposition to shield the party from this responsibility. The Democratic party must overhaul and correct the defects in the organization of this institution or the people will call it to account for the neglect.

This manly utterance will not be greatly relished by the Democratic managers. Perhaps the Asylum people will not smack their lips over it. "Gross and inhuman neglect," from whatever cause, is putting it very strongly.

When, in the opinion of our contemporary, will the Democratic party "overhaul and correct the defects in the organization of this institution?" and how soon may the people be expected to call the Democratic party to account for its neglect in these premises? Did we learn anything about the said defects before attention was called to it through the Republican press? and isn't it likely that the "intelligent majority" would be more disposed to do a job of general whitewashing than to ascertain the truth and herald it to the world?

Perhaps we shall shortly have some interesting developments and perhaps we shan't. If our Morgantown friend will keep us company we shall wait and see. It may be that the shower isn't over yet.

Mr. George D. Robinson, Republican candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, sings bass in a Chippewa choir.

Mr. Miln, once a preacher, now an actor, has two strings to his bow. He will lecture occasionally as he swings around his dramatic circle this season.

Mr. E. H. Sears has severed his connection with the University of California, because of a disagreement between Professor Bunnell and himself concerning the relative merits of two methods of teaching the dead languages.

A civil-list pension of $100 has been bestowed by Mr. Gladstone upon Mr. Edward Edwards, the first librarian of the free library at Manchester, England, whose labors in the cause of educational reform and advancement extend over nearly half a century.

Mrs. Langtry told a London reporter: "I would not need any lessons to get the Paris theatres to open their doors to me. I know to which a Parisian critic sharply replies that she might attract the curious, but could not retain them by the mere art of securing admiration."

The Louisville Courier-Journal remarks that the committee charged with the memorial services at the grave of Zachary Taylor could not have made a better choice of an orator than they have made in the selection of Gen. Thomas L. Crittenden.

A son of the great Kentuckian, who was General Taylor's nearest friend and confidant, he was himself the young officer picked by the old hero to carry that famous and perilous communication to Santa Anna the night before the battle of Buena Vista.

A Kentucky girl refused an offer of marriage on the ground that her father couldn't marry on a larger family.

The climate of Western Nebraska is said to be growing more rainy, because of the great corn fields, which act as miniature forests.

There has been discovered at Cohasset a rock which, looked at from one position, gives a very good contour of the features of Daniel Webster.

A western newspaper explains that a phenologist is "a man who can tell by the bunions on a boy's head whether he is to be hanged or to be a missionary."

A St. Louis jury has decided that shaving the human countenance is a work of necessity, and accordingly acquitted a barber charged with violating the Sunday law.

The Democratic officeholders of New York are becoming very indignant at the cry of the New York Star, "The means are the ends." They think Mr. Dana might once in a while strike at somebody else—Chicago News.

"Gentlemen," said the Texas man in the restaurant when the waiter dumped a plate of hot soup down his back, "gentlemen, don't laugh." As he laid down his fork and drew two revolvers, his wishes were respected.

It is reported that the female seminaries in Indiana, Illinois and other interior States are declining, the institutions where co-education is established being preferred by the average young lady who desires an education.

Planting Raspberries.
A noted grower of small fruits claims that he invariably has better success in planting raspberries in the fall than at any other season, and gives the following simple instructions on this point: "Set the plants so that there are four inches on light soil and three inches on heavy soil above the branching of the roots after the ground is leveled off. Give to each hill one or two shovelfuls of manure on the surface around the plant. Level the ground around the plant. Lay the plants out as soon as the frost is out in the spring and maintain level culture. I have rarely lost a plant and have usually secured double growth by this course. Every farmer should have at least a small patch of raspberries from which to supply his own table, and larger quantities will be found to be very profitable."

The Product of Dairying in Pennsylvania.
Dairying in Pennsylvania is in a prosperous condition, and does not seem to suffer from competition with "clean" Western products. The Germantown Telegraph says of Chester county: "The dairies of the county are producing a large quantity of milk, and some of the creameries are receiving more than they can conveniently handle. The Oakland Creamery, one of the largest, is receiving between 9,000 and 10,000 pounds of milk daily, out of which are made about 355 pounds of butter and 17 cheeses per day. The Fairmount creamery is receiving 16,000 pounds of milk daily, and last month paid 33 cents per quart. In consequence of the large quantity of butter sold, the selling price has fallen considerably. Our farmers are retailing choice grass prints in the Philadelphia markets at thirty cents per pound. This shows the value of a good market, as well of fine goods. Origin creamery of choice quality has been selling at twenty to twenty-one cents."

A Remarkable Case.
Mr. Hartman—Dear Sir: I am induced by a sense of duty to the suffering to make a brief statement of your goodly cure of myself. I was a most miserable sufferer from the various annoying and distressing diseases of delicate persons, which caused me to be confined to my bed for a long time, being weak to even bear my weight upon my feet. I was treated by the most reputable physicians in our city, each and all saying they could do nothing for me. I had given up all hope of ever being well. In this condition I began to take your Manna and Peruna, and I am most happy to say, in three months I was perfectly well—entirely cured without any appliances or support of any kind.
Yours truly, Mrs. Henry Ellis.
